

Eilat-Eilot Renewable Energy Conference

Descripción:

The Eilat-Eilot Renewable Energy Conference is a unique opportunity to meet with the people who are making the green revolution happen - investors, businesspeople, industry leaders, entrepreneurs and international policy makers - looking to find new partners and cooperate on technological innovation and business opportunities which supports the vision of Energy Independence

The Eilat-Eilot Renewable Energy International Conference and Exhibition is among the world's leading platforms for presenting technological innovation in solar energy, wind energy and energy efficiency.

During the conference, engaging meetings take place that lead to tangible results in the field. The previous conferences have established this event as the leading Renewable Energy conference in Israel, as well as a conference of global significance.
